

Outpatient later abortion services (22+ weeks) and restrictions, March 2015

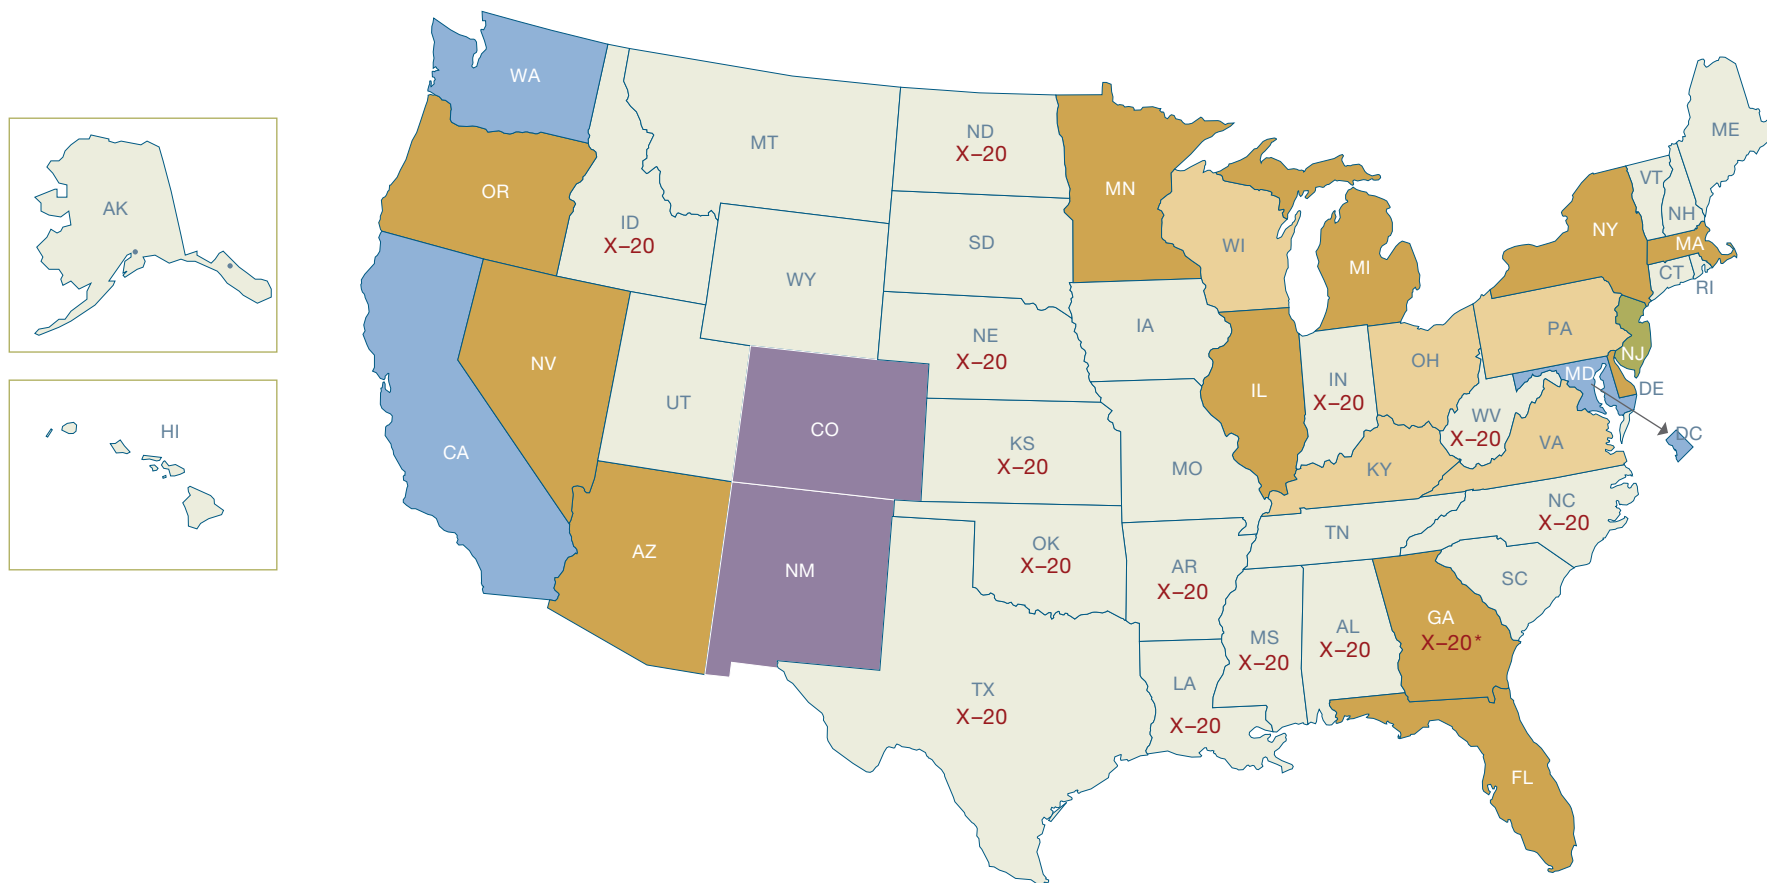

(Services available in the absence of maternal or fetal indicators)

- No outpatient services after 22 weeks LMP (since last menstrual period)
- Up to 22 weeks/6 days
- Up to 23 weeks/6 days
- Up to 24 weeks/6 days
- Up to 26 weeks
- After 26 weeks

X Ban on ALL later abortions except to save life of woman. The number following the "X" in each case indicates the number of weeks after fertilization at which the ban applies. (20 weeks after fertilization is 22 weeks LMP.)

*There is an injunction on Georgia's 20-week ban.

A comparison with the 2010 and 2013 maps below shows the changes in services between 2010 and 2015. Map is current as of March 11, 2015.

Outpatient later abortion services (22+ weeks) and restrictions, September 2013

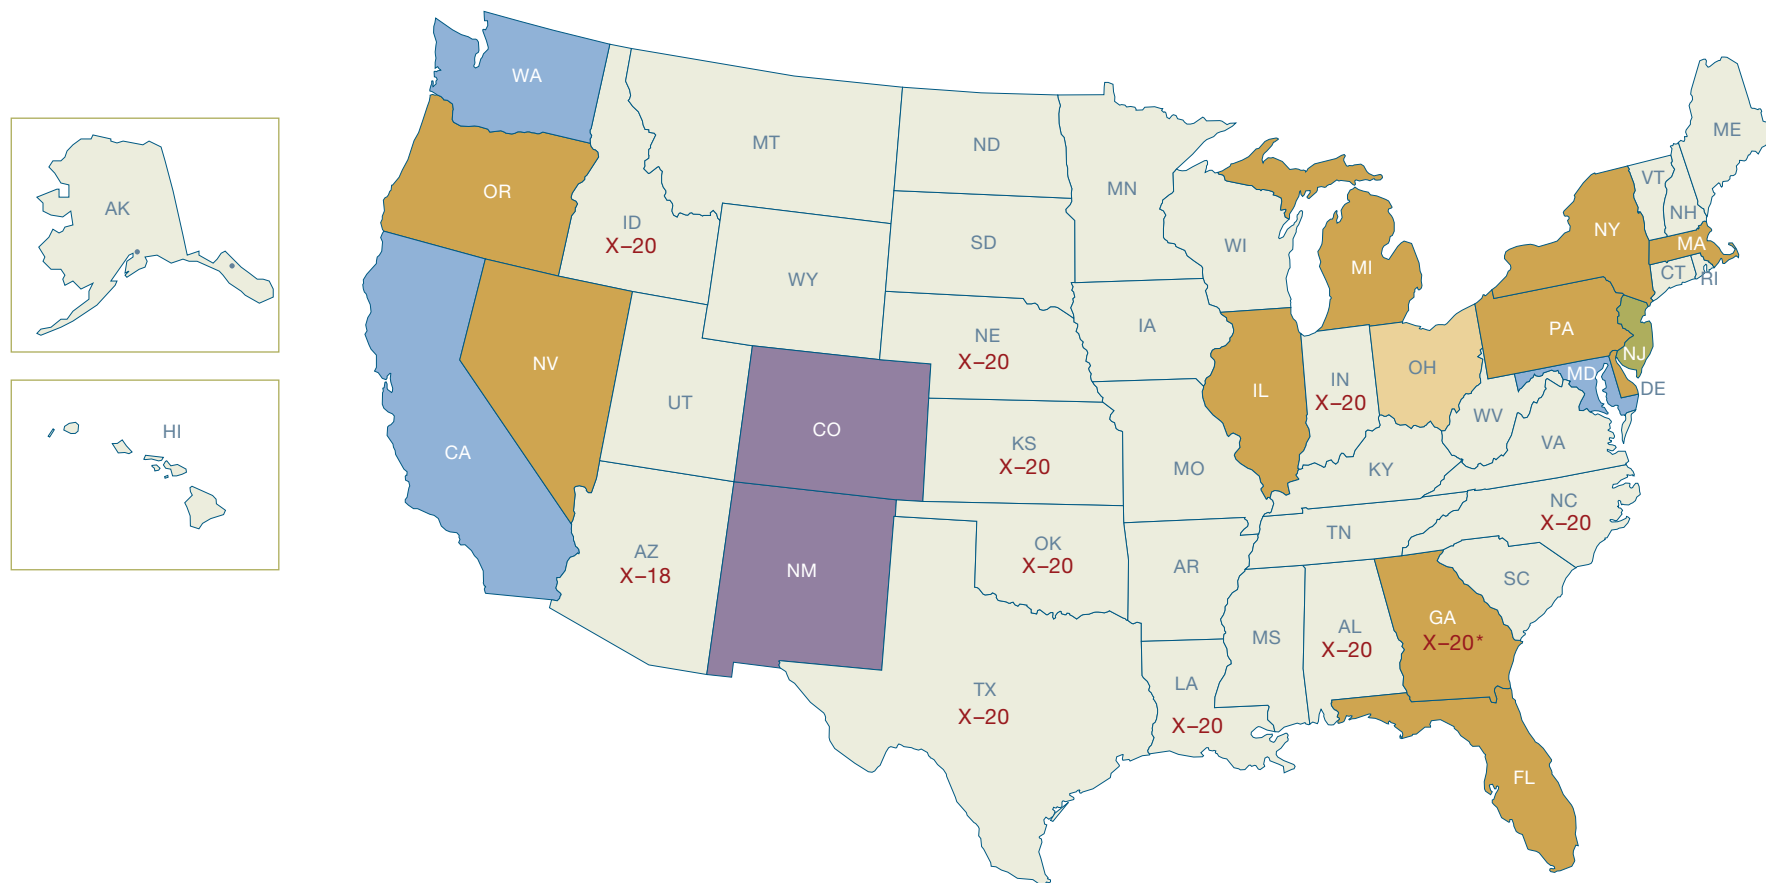

(Services available in the absence of maternal or fetal indicators)

- No outpatient services after 22 weeks LMP (since last menstrual period)
- Up to 22 weeks/6 days
- Up to 23 weeks/6 days
- Up to 24 weeks/6 days
- Up to 26 weeks
- After 26 weeks

X Ban on ALL later abortions except to save life of woman. The number following the "X in each case indicates the number of weeks after fertilization at which the ban applies. (20 weeks after fertilization is 22 weeks LMP.)

*There is an injunction on Georgia's 20-week ban.

A comparison with the 2010 map below shows the dramatic decline in services between 2010 and 2013. Map is current as of September 23, 2013.

Outpatient later abortion services (22+ weeks) and restrictions, February 2010

(Services available in the absence of maternal or fetal indicators)

□ No outpatient services after 22 weeks LMP (since last menstrual period) ■ Up to 23 weeks/6 days ■ Up to 24 weeks/6 days ■ Up to 26 weeks
■ After 26 weeks

Notes: This map reflects advertised services; some clinics go later for fetal anomalies and/or at the discretion of a physician on a case-by-case basis. Washington DC, not reflected on the map, has services to 26 weeks. Map is current as of February 27, 2010.

